If we were to ask this question, “who knows best how to make government work in Nova Scotia?” what do you think the response might be? Some might say the politicians, and some would say those that worked and delivered government, the employees of the Province, those who actually worked to make our Province a tremendous place to live.

If we were to look at it through that lens, then those who know the absolute most about the delivery of good government would be the membership of NSGREA, the Nova Scotia Government Retired Employees Association. So, the question then becomes how does the Province of Nova Scotia tap into this vast pool of knowledge, experience, and expertise? How do the members of NSGREA become involved in delivering good government?

There is a way! Twice a year the Province launches a campaign to fill a myriad of positions on a number of Agencies, Boards and Commissions. In fact, an advertisement appeared on April 4th, 2026, requesting applications from interested Nova Scotians who would like to have an influence. With a listing of over 90 various Agencies, Boards of Directors, and Commissions from over 18 various Departments, there is literally something for everyone!

The vast knowledge, incredible skills, lived experience, and incredible talent of the members of NSGREA are exceptionally valuable commodities and should be shared and utilized to help make Nova Scotia a tremendous place to live and work.

Consider making application and make a difference. Applications for all postings are due by May 12th, 2026. Some positions involve an honourarium, some cover the cost of travel, and some pay a ‘sitting’ fee.
